Onward With Education

A rolling stone gathers no moss; but, in contrast, the graduates of '46, who have been rolling along together during the last four years, have acquired useful knowledge, enjoyed the opportunities of social contacts and established many new friendships. With the acquisition of these, a valuable foundation has been established to aid in achieving a worthy goal in life.

Reflecting a moment, we recall that many of us started together in the very elementary grades. The size of our class was augmented as we gradually progressed through junior high and high school. Here we participated in various school activities and, as a group, enjoyed the class picnics and parties. Much interest was shown and much effort expended in the production of class plays which were successfully presented. A major event in our junior year was the "prom" given in honor of the class of '45. This was held in an atmosphere of a summer garden in the pavilion of the Wahoo Park.

As a class, we accepted the challenge to produce an annual. It is our desire that a precedent is set for the future graduating classes of Wahoo High School.

Day by day we strived, and learned not to be weary in well-doing. Whether we were on a committee, served as a class officer or staff member, were out for athletics, took part in music or filled the capacity of a scholar, we had a responsibility toward our fellow students as well as ourselves. Each task was an assignment which was to be accomplished thoroughly and well. Together we set forth as crusaders on a pilgrimage seeking an education and establishing as our goal a readily accessible storehouse of knowledge. With our teachers rendering their services as guides we were led and stimulated by their helpfulness, instruction and whole-hearted co-operation. As a result of their splendid leadership we have come closer to our goal. The name of each graduate would be necessary if all those who partook of education and contributed to this journey were to be enumerated.

In looking forward, we stand now as individuals on the threshold of new and unknown experiences. Reluctantly we leave the halls of our Alma Mater, a school of which we are rightfully proud. We wonder and ask ourselves what new problems await us and how we will face each of them. May our work of the past help us to decide intelligently in the future. The world stands before us, waiting. As we create tomorrow by the actions and thoughts of today we see clearly what an asset our education is to us. Since opportunity does not come but is already at hand, grasp it firmly, and endeavor to meet the world with steadfast courage. Then, with the poet, who holds in view never-ending progress, cry, "Excelsior."

—Lauralie Nelson.

In September of 1943, 49 enthusiastic freshmen entered Wahoo High School. This class elected Bill Whaley, president; Charles Lanik, vice-president; Joan Hanson, secretary; Donna Cruickshank, treasurer. Miss Wedell accepted the "big sister" position of being class sponsor. The class play, "Herby and the Mumps," was presented on March 10, 1944.

These freshmen, now sophomores, settled down for the second phase of high school, this time electing the following class officers: Charles Lanik, president; Raymond Lind, vice-president; Rosemary Kavan, secretary; Donna Cruickshank, treasurer. Mr. Magnusson took honors as the class sponsor for the sophomores. "Who Murdered Who," the class play, was presented on May 10, 1945.

In September 1945, 49 juniors returned as veterans of high school life. Class officers were elected as follows: Bill Whaley, president; Dorothy Maynard, vice-president; Joan Hanson, secretary; Donna Cruickshank, treasurer. Miss Doty accepted the responsibility of sponsoring the complex activities of the year with Mr. Menke as co-sponsor. The play, "Her Step-Husband," was presented on November 29 and 30 under the direction of Mrs. Krause. The class sold apples at basketball games and swept up the cores.

The most important and concluding activity of the year for the juniors was the Junior-Senior Prom held in May. Here the juniors were honored to be the hosts to the seniors of 1946 who were soon to bid farewell to W. H. S.

In their first class meeting these "freshies" chose Dick Worrall, president; James Peters, vice-president; Ardelle Hengen, secretary; Kenneth Lilley, treasurer; Mr. Anderson, sponsor. Miss Arnold was appointed co-sponsor. A "get acquainted" picnic was held at Berggren's Grove a few weeks after school started. In the spring of 1945 their first play, "Mama's Little Wonder Boy," was given.

When the class returned as sophomores in the fall of 1945, the following officers were elected: Charles Burmeister, president; Patricia Hanson, vice-president; Jack Stewart, secretary; Richard Worrall, treasurer; Mrs. Worrall, sponsor. Mr. Granere served as co-sponsor. The class decided to have a hay rack ride in the place of the customary picnic. This was a lot of fun and will be remembered for a long time. After a few weeks of becoming acquainted with others and high school life, they planned a picnic at the City Park on October 8. After their picnic supper they went on a long tedious treasure hunt, but they recovered from it.

The freshmen were enthusiastic supporters of the sale of annuals. They participated whole-heartedly in all school activities throughout the year. The freshman class presented the play, "According to Doyle," late in the spring.

The freshman year has drawn to a close and the members are looking forward to their sophomore year in high school.

Practical Arts

PERIOD V PRACTICAL ARTS: Ben Swanson, Eugene Budde, Glenn Barry, Donald Syverson, Richard Svoboda, Godfrey Lanik, Eugene Tomsicek, Duane Fjellin, Donal Bard, William Dolezal, Donald Bartusek, Edward Dorland, Donald Chvatal. Mr. Anderson, Instructor.

From sixty to eighty boys are enrolled each year in practical arts. The purpose of this department is to give each boy some knowledge and experience in the use and care of common tools and materials. Woodworking, metalworking, painting and finishing, general electricity and care of electrical appliances, shop drawing, moulding, use of concrete mortar and plaster, and reconditioning of tools are some of the courses offered in this department. The beginners use practically no power tools the first year. After the first year each student is required to make one project involving many different phases of machine work.

Home Arts

HOME ARTS II CLASS: Mary Ellen Meduna, Lucille Beranek, Marilyn Thorson, Sophie Bartek, Eleanor Bartek, Maxine Frank, Gerry Moravec, Ruth May Hageman, Gladys Zetocka, Donnetta Rohwer, Dorothy Swanson, Dorothy Krueger, Viola Krueger, Magdelene Mathis, Mrs. Worrall, Instructor.

During the first year of home arts, the girls study food selection, preparation and serving of breakfasts. At the end of the first semester breakfasts are served, and each girl is a cook, waitress and guest. The second semester, girls make notebooks which include samples of eighteen essential processes of sewing. Later, aprons and dresses are made.

The second year of home arts includes the study of luncheons and dinners—their preparation and serving. The girls again serve as cooks, waitresses and guests at dinners, to which a teacher is an invited guest.. The second semester, clothing work includes dresses, blouses, skirts and slacks. At the end of the year, mothers are invited to a style show and tea.

Chieftain Staff

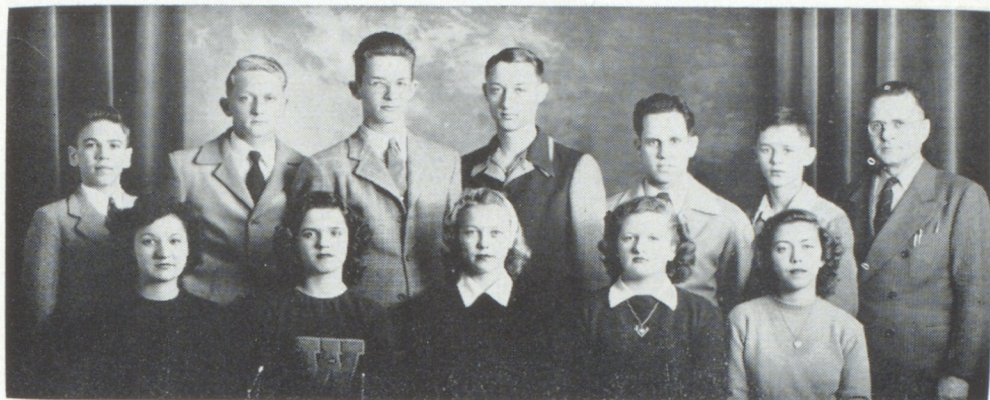

SEATED: Doris Wallin, Mildred Patzloff, Dorothy Houdek, typists; Ralph Koch, cartoonist; Gordon Magnusson, headlines; Ardelle Hengen, cartoonist.

STANDING: Patricia Halliburton, editor; Jean Martinson, freshman reporter; Jean Hancock, senior reporter; Lauralie Nelson, departmental reporter; Lee Jackson, sophomore reporter; Helen Isaacson, junior reporter; Joan Hanson, assistant editor; Mary Ann Horak, departmental reporter; LaVose Magnuson, mimeographer; Ferne Epperson, feature writer; Merle Elmelund, subscription and exchange editor; Richard Breunig, Eugene Roberts, sports editors; Bill Whaley, feature writer; Miss Hull, Miss Arnold, faculty advisers; LaVerne Fisher, headlines; Raymond Lind, subscription and exchange editor; Edward Cech, feature writer; Miss Doty, faculty adviser.

ABSENT: Norma Kuhr, typist; Robert Borreson, mimeographer.

A competent staff succeeded in editing seven issues of the CHIEFTAIN. Each issue carried out a central theme corresponding to the month of publication. Since the publication of the CHIEFTAIN is an extra-curricular project, it is necessary to spend much after-school time before the "press begins to roll." Two hundred fifty copies are printed and distributed. This fine job was accomplished under the efficient supervision of Miss Arnold, Miss Doty and Miss Hull.

Forum

The Forum, Wahoo High's intermediary for students and faculty, serves mainly as an organization for planning school functions.

This year there were eleven members and a faculty adviser. The seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen each elected a boy and a girl to represent their class on the Forum. The Pep Club, "W" Club and CHIEFTAIN Staff each elected one representative.

The Forum presented a Thanksgiving program before the student body. Several students participated in giving the history of Thanksgiving customs. The members decorated the Christmas tree and presented a Christmas program consisting of group singing, a report on Christmas in other countries by Jean Hunter and a piano solo by Irene Roberts. It started the new year by sponsoring a New Year dance.

The officers elected this year were: Richard Breunig, president; Orville Haggstrom, vice-president; Jean Hunter, secretary-treasurer.

The Pep Club is composed of fifty girls elected by the popular vote of the active members. The purpose of the club is to promote school spirit and enthusiasm for the football and basketball games. The girls attend all games played at home and the club chartered a bus to attend several out-of-town games. A royal blue skirt and sweater with a chieftain head emblem and a blue and gold "beanie" is the official uniform adopted by the club. The chieftain heads were unavailable during the war years.

Skits and rallies, planned and presented by the girls, were held for each home game. Those in charge of these activities were appointed by the vice-president. The outstanding rally presented this year was held the night before the Seward football game. Lettermen, riding in a wagon drawn by the Pep Club girls, royally led the parade of cheering high school pupils through town. At each intersection a circle was formed and yells were given.

In the spring of 1945 the Pep Club sponsored a dinner party honoring the "W" Club. The dinner was held in the Gibson Tea Room, and games were played in the high school gymnasium.

The officers for 1945-1946 were: president, Joyce Caha; vice-president, Patricia Halliburton; secretary-treasurer, Mary Ann Margrave; sponsor, Miss Doty.

The band, meeting at 8 o'clock each morning, is an active music organization. The concert band presented a program February 7 which was well received by the public. After this appearance, vigorous preparation was made for the spring music contest which was held at Fremont. This was the band's first appearance at the contest since 1942 because of prevailing war-time conditions. The following small groups consisting of band members also participated in the contest: brass sextet, clarinet quartet and trumpet trio.

The band lent color and enthusiasm to the home football games by marching and playing between halves. This group, lacking an instructor at that time, took the initiative to organize and practice for these demonstrations.

The band elected the following officers: student-director, Irene Roberts; secretary, Raymond Lind; librarian, Ralph Koch.

Music Department

The music department, directed by Mr. Granere, is one of the most active organizations in Wahoo High. Organized groups include band, orchestra, chorus, girls' and boys' glee clubs and pep band.

The orchestra, composed of forty members, played for the junior and senior class plays. Due to a delayed start, it gave its concert late in the spring. The orchestra also attended the spring music contest, which was held at Fremont. Irene Roberts, concert-mistress of the orchestra, entered as a violin soloist, and the orchestra was represented in the small groups by a string quartet. Patricia Hanson was elected student director; Janet Kokjer, secretary; Jacqueline Carlson, librarian.

The girls' glee club gave its concert with the band on February 7. Joan Hanson was chosen student director; Mary Ann Margrave, secretary; Joan Larsen, librarian.

The boys' glee club presented its concert on March 22 with the orchestra and chorus. This group elected the following officers: Frans Eliason, student director; Charles Burmeister, secretary; Richard Johnson, librarian.

The chorus, composed of selected members of the two glee clubs, attended the contest at Fremont April 13. Bill Whaley served as student-director; Irene Roberts, secretary; Dale Dolezal, librarian; Harriet Seidel and Irene Roberts were accompanists for the vocal groups.

Basketball games would not have been complete without the pep band. Their music did much to add to the enthusiasm of the cheering section. The "riot-makers" traveled to several out-of-town games in a chartered bus with the Pep Club. The members thoroughly enjoyed playing in the pep band, and their music was graciously tolerated and often encouraged by most of the basketball fans. The following were members of this organization: drums—Suzanne Schulte and Shirley Richardson; saxophones—Donna Cruickshank, Mary Ann Margrave and Frank Machovec; trombone—Patricia Hanson; baritone—Raymond Lind; cornets—Ferne Epperson and Gordon Magnusson; clarinet—Richard Johnson; bass—Roger Smith.

The next tussle was closely contested with David City edging the Warriors 13-12. Wahoo then journeyed to Valley where they were tripped 7-0. The Warriors suffered their worst defeat at College View by a score of 44-0. The Warriors lost 7-6 at Blair. Wahoo suffered another setback from Plattsmouth by a score of 7-0. A flashing team, headed by Joe McGill of Holy Name, gave Wahoo the next defeat by a 33-7 score. The closing game of the season resulted in a chilling defeat from Ashland, the score being 15-0.

Although the Warriors suffered all bitter defeats, their reward came from good showings against David City, Valley, Blair and Plattsmouth.

Class Prophecy

As we look into the mists of the crystal ball,
Our eyes become focused upon Carnegie Hall.
The time is now nineteen sixty-six,
As we behold the Class of '46.
And looking down the hall whom do we see
But Roger Smith reading law studiously.
Now Rosie Pop, reading a movie book,
Is gazing at Frank Machovec, the present day LOOK,
And glancing thru pages to see whom she could
She saw Alice Quick, new queen of Hollywood.
Where is Don Ray but in a mechanic's shop
Watching Carolyn Markle push a taylor-tot.
Mrs. Orville Haggstrom with twins at her feet
Was once Doris Wallin, a dancer sweet.
Here is Vivian Croshaw, head phone operator
And Charles Mathis in a car that's a rater.
Mildred Patzloff is still jitterbugging
With Edward Havelka, her husband loving,
There's Darlene Lees with a sten's book,
And Norma Kuhr giving her a sidelong look.
Speaking of good looks, here's Joyce Rexilius
Appearing on the stage, with a voice to thrill us.
Mary Ann Rezac is a commercial teacher
And LaVose Magnuson, wife of a preacher.
A shapely leg steps through the door,
It's Dorothy Trutna, another Lamour.
Across the hall we hear a cello,
It's Lauralie playing music mellow.
We pass again into the street
And just imagine whom we meet,
It's Leonard Olander and the Richardson twins
Who have become famous for the making of safety pins.
Accompanying them is Rollin Schwartz,
Now the owner of a mine of quartz.
Jeanie Lindgren is now a nurse
And Donald Person is driving a hearse.
Donald Oakeson has joined the ranks
Which breaks the heart of Alice Jean Banks.
Kenny Treptow leads a famous band
But his wife Alta, has the upper hand.
Joyce Caha has become a well-known artist,
And Merle's a prophet, one of the smartest.

Class Prophecy

Frans Eliason manufactures ice,
And his wife Lorraine thinks he's mighty nice.
Edward Dorland's a patty cake baker,
And to Colleen, a cake he will take her.
Richard Breunig has gone to Luzon
Leaving behind his wife, Gerry Fujan.
Gordon Magnusson is a doctor of philosophy
And to his heart Dorothy Houdek holds the key.
Mary Ann Horak's heart is still in the Navy.
Norma Koukal is the proud mother of nine
And her husband, Ralph Koch, thinks it's mighty fine.
Bernard Hanson is an ace mechanic;
A doctor successful is Leo Lanik.
Richard Kubalek is a farmer;
His wife Frances Novak is a charmer.
On the train swiftly passing by
Don Virgl flashes a smile so sly,
Poison Lindgren is six feet high,
Jack Walter is trying to learn to fly.
Lila lives in a Waldorf suite
Where she and Harold chanced to meet.
Betty Gustafson is seen in a car
Waiting for Lloyd, a movie star.
Jo Ann Parsons is now Mrs. Pallat,
And Joe's the president 'cause she stuffed the ballot.
Patricia Halliburton's a famous auctioneer
And wife of Jean Hunter, world's leading engineer.
Jean Hancock has become a lab technician
While Ernie, her husband, spends his time fishin'.
Grace Aldrich is now the nation's beauty,
And in the Navy Bob Borreson is performing sea duty.
A famous concert pianist is Phyllis Smith
While Patty Welton is with her husband, the fifth.
Anthony Divis is a college professor,
Dorothy Ann Kreuger is a hairdresser.
Betty Jane Styskal is editing "Life",
Suzy Margrave is a model wife.
The scene is now slowly fading away
In comes rolling deep mists of grey.
Our look into the future has been completed,
The class is sustained but not defeated.
