On the girls side, Livia Sharpe put together a standout run at 155 pounds. Entering as the third seed, Sharpe battled through the bracket and finished strong, earning pins in both the semifinals and finals to capture the conference championship and score 20 team points.

HIGH SCHOOL DUAL RESULTS B/G

WARRIORS BATTLES THROUGH BUSY WEEK OF DUALS

The Warrior wrestling teams were busy this week with multiple duals, showing toughness, depth, and continued growth across both programs.

The girls team opened the week Tuesday against Ralston. While the final score favored Ralston, the Warriors earned key individual wins from Allie Bruns, Holly Buckmaster, Taylor Christian, and Adyson Kadlec. The lineup competed hard throughout the dual, gaining valuable experience against strong competition as the postseason approaches.

The boys team followed with an impressive 43–30 win over Ralston, controlling the dual with several bonus-point victories. Strong performances from Gavin Sutton, Braydon Fittro, Grady Meyer, Jayse Styskal, Parker Lienemann, Daniel Oehm, and Grayson Styskal helped secure the team victory.

On Thursday, the Warriors lost to Logan View before bouncing back with a 39–34 win over Fort Calhoun. The response showed resilience and growth as the lineup stayed aggressive and finished matches when it mattered most.

"We battled hard throughout the week," said Coach Hodges. "Our young guys are progressing as the season goes, and we are competing at a high level for our experience."

Hodges also noted that the team expects to add depth soon, saying, "We should be getting a few guys back this week coming off injury and illness, which will help our lineup as we move forward."

Overall, it was a productive week for the Warrior program as both teams continue to build momentum heading toward the postseason.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS

WAHOO GIRLS WRESTLE STRONG AT CONFERENCE

The Wahoo girls wrestling team put together a strong showing at the 2026 Trailblazer Conference Tournament, finishing 4th overall and continuing their momentum heading into districts.

"The girls really wrestled well at conference," said Coach Raney. "The whole lineup really battled, and overall I feel the team is peaking at the right time with districts up next."

Leading the way was Livia Sharpe, who delivered a standout performance at 155 pounds. Entering the tournament as the third seed, Sharpe battled through the bracket and captured the conference championship, earning pins in both the semifinals and finals to score 20 team points.

At 135 pounds, Lilliana Schneider showed resilience after an opening-round setback. Schneider battled back with two hard-fought one-point victories to secure third place, showcasing toughness and composure in tight matches.

Brianna Marshall also had an excellent tournament at 100 pounds, placing third and scoring 11.5 team points. Marshall picked up a tech fall and a clutch one-point decision in the third-place match to cap off her run.

Additional podium finishes came from Allie Bruns (2nd at 110), Taylor Christian (2nd at 125), Kinzley Beavers (2nd at 140), and Holly Buckmaster (4th at 120), as multiple Warriors contributed valuable team points throughout the day.

With several strong individual performances and a full lineup competing hard, the Warriors continue to trend upward as postseason competition approaches.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS

WAHOO BOYS MEDAL EIGHT AT CONFERENCE

The Wahoo boys wrestling team turned in a strong performance at the 2026 Trailblazer Conference Tournament, finishing 5th overall while sending a limited lineup into a tough field.

“I’m proud of the fact that we took eight wrestlers to conference and all eight medaled,” said Coach Hodges. “We battled hard throughout a tough conference tournament.”

Leading the Warriors was Grady Meyer, who put together a dominant run at 175 pounds to claim the conference championship. Meyer controlled every match, winning all three by technical fall and scoring a team-high 22.5 points.

Several other Warriors reached the podium with gritty performances. Tiger Bartek finished runner-up at 138, earning key wins to advance to the finals. Jayse Styskal (190), Parker Lienemann (215), and Daniel Oehm (285) each battled back through the bracket to earn third-place finishes, showing resilience after early challenges.

At the lighter weights, Grayson Styskal (126) and Gavin Sutton (132) both placed fourth, picking up bonus-point victories along the way, while Braydon Fittro (165) also earned a fourth-place medal after fighting through the consolation rounds.

Despite missing several starters due to injury and illness, the Warriors proved they can compete with anyone in the conference. “We should add a few guys back this week coming off injury and illness,” Coach Hodges added. “That will give us more depth as we head into the final stretch of the season.”

With all eight wrestlers reaching the podium, the boys continue to trend upward as postseason competition approaches.
